DETAILED ACTION

1. Amendment filed on 7/11/05 has been received.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-9, 15, 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

4. Claims 1, 16 discloses a second and third means. The second and third means seem to correspond to the pressure relief valves and the gas volume claimed in dependent claims. However, the elements are not identified as second and third means. Therefore, it is unclear to the examiner as to the scope of the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 1-9 15 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Crouch and further in view of Tsuchiya et al (U. S. Patent no. 4,693,454).

Crouch discloses:

See figure 1 piston E, passage m at a position near the fully expanded position

Crouch does not disclose temperature compensation or non-return valves. Ingham teaches temperature compensation and non-return valves (see figure 4 adjustable pressure-relief/temperature compensation valves 21,22, adjustable non-return valve 23). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use temperature compensation and non-return valves as taught by Ingham in the device of Crouch in order to ensure that the proper device pressure is available at all times. Changes in temperature can lead to a change of the spring characteristic. The use of these valves allows the spring rate to be maintained over a variety of temperatures.

Crouch, as modified, is relied upon as above. Crouch, as modified, does not disclose connecting the expansion chamber to a gas volume. Tsuchiya et al teaches connecting the expansion chamber to a compressed air source (see figure 9 source 640). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to as taught by Tsuchiya et al in the device of Crouch, as modified, in order to operate the gas spring at a pressure different than atmospheric pressure (e.g. higher pressure which would produce a higher spring rate).

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed 7/11/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants argue none of the references teach a passage between the two chambers open in only one predetermined position. Examiner disagrees and notes passage m.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
